Rhyme Time

Which British wildlife are these rhymes about? Draw a line between the animal and the rhyme.

I'm known for being very slow,
And carrying my house with me wherever I go.

You'll only see me out at night,
To defend myself I'm covered in spikes!

My stripy face is well renowned,
I spend most of my time underground.

I spend my days spinning webs,
And wondering around on eight legs.

You'll spot me roaming through the night,
My bushy orange tail burning bright!
